StairSteady®

Independence on your terms

StairSteady is designed for people facing mobility challenges, including older Australians, those recovering from surgery, or anyone living with reduced strength or balance , providing a safe, reliable way to move between floors and maintain independence at home, while giving family members and carers peace of mind.

Steady Support

Locks instantly for steady support (tested to 160kg), feel secure and confident on every step.

Stay Active

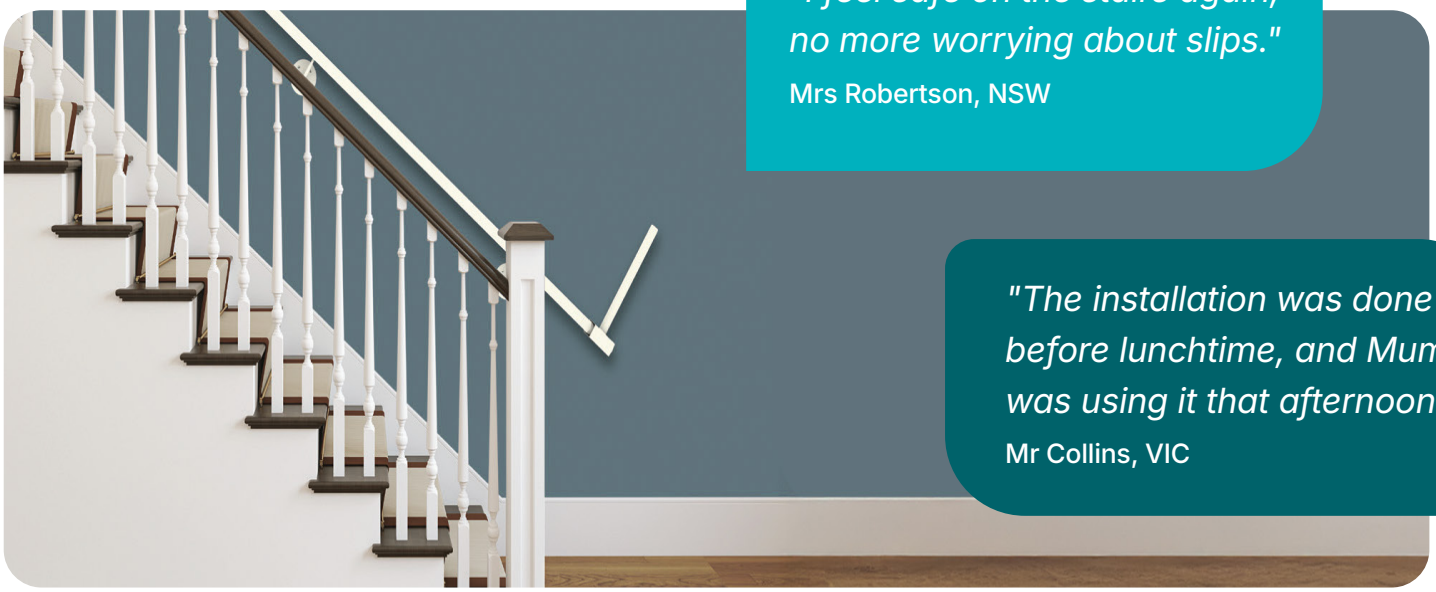
StairSteady keeps you active at home, stay mobile and independent between floors.

Quick Fit, No Fuss

Installed in under two hours with zero electrics, so you can use it straight away.

Budget Friendly

Budget-friendly alternative to a stairlift. One-off purchase; zero running costs.



"I feel safe on the stairs again, no more worrying about slips."

Mrs Robertson, NSW

"The installation was done before lunchtime, and Mum was using it that afternoon."

Mr Collins, VIC

How it works Step-by-Step Support

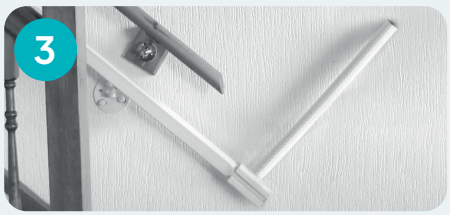
StairSteady moves when you move and secures when you need it. Here's what happens:

Slide

Gently push the handle forward; low-friction pads let it glide along the rail.

Lock

Apply downward weight and rubber brake pads grip the rail instantly, giving firm support.



Move

Lift slightly, slide to the next comfortable position, and repeat until you reach the top or bottom of the stairs.

Trusted by Professionals

Occupational therapists, physiotherapists and home-modification contractors specify StairSteady to bridge the gap between a standard handrail and an expensive stairlift.

About StairSteady Australia

Born from a school project in the UK and now manufactured under licence in Melbourne, StairSteady has one clear mission: to help Australians move safely between floors and live longer in the homes they love.

In 2006, sixteen-year-old Ruth Amos accepted her design teacher's challenge to create a stair aid for people with limited mobility. Her prototype won Young Engineer for Britain the same year and later evolved into the patented StairSteady handrail and locking handle we know today.

The design went on to claim Product of the Year 2013 from the British Healthcare Trade Association, proving that simple ideas can make a life-changing difference.

Today, StairSteady systems are manufactured under ISO 9001 quality management in Victoria and supported by a nationwide network of accredited installers and health-care partners.
